

Join us on an inspiring 4-day
Workshop on Sacred Gardens

Friday May 22nd - Monday May 25th 2015

"The care of the Earth is our most ancient and our most worthy, and after all our most pleasing responsibility. To cherish what remains of it and foster its renewal is our only hope."

Wendell Berry

Sacred Gardens

a practical & philosophical workshop

A four-day, non-residential workshop exploring the philosophy, geometry and profound symbolism of the sacred gardens of the world, together with practical design sessions.

Taking place in the beautiful and historic City of Wells in Somerset it will include illustrated talks, practical geometry, and drawing and design classes as well as visits to local gardens such as the Bishop's Palace Garden, the Old Deanery Garden and the Chalice Well Garden in nearby Glastonbury. The workshop is led by specialist tutors with a wealth of experience.

Cost: £400 per person (Includes coffee/tea and a delicious freshly prepared home-made light lunch each day)

A non-refundable deposit of £50 is required to book your place. There will be a welcoming dinner in an excellent, reasonably-priced restaurant in Wells on the evening of Friday May 22nd (not included in the fee).

It is non-residential so participants will be sent a list of recommended accommodation and other details.
